The UK government is imposing severe cuts to tax credits and benefits in order to save £12 billion from its budget. Scotland's per-capita share of the cuts would be around £1 billion. The Scottish Government will in future have the power to compensate those who lose out, by creating new payments it'll have to fund itself. Which of the following is closest to your view? A few weeks ago the UK Labour conference passed a motion committing the party to renewing the Trident nuclear weapons system. However, this month the Scottish Labour Party conference passed a motion committing the party to opposing the renewal. Scottish leader Kezia Dugdale and most of UK Labour's shadow cabinet support renewal, while UK leader Jeremy Corbyn and shadow Scottish Secretary Ian Murray - the only Scottish Labour MP at Westminster, where all decisions about defence are made - oppose it.
